Increasing Employee Engagement

We've studied the Research on this and know that loss of employee engagement is costly in many ways. It is up to Leaders to develop employees using dynamic skills. This work shop will provide tools to impower employees in order to keep them tuned into the overall Vision and Mission that they are charged to support in the work they perform.

Training Objectives

- Explore the importance of communicating and supporting the Vision and Mission of your company to ALL employees.
- Investigate what is actually happening that disempowers and lowers a sense of belonging which is essential to a good culture.
- Become aware of the losses that result from limited to little employee engagement in your specific business.
- Analyze the possibilities and gains that can result from seeing your employees in new ways and demonstrating this in conversations and interactions. This will be a fresh outlook and exciting boost to the needed relationships and ultimately the culture in your workplace.
- By learning these new ways of seeing and working with employees, you could be among the Leaders whose employees love coming to work, focus on being the contribution you need and spread the word to people they know that they work in the best company with the best leaders. (This really happens – not a fairy-tale!)
- You will walk away with specific steps to increase engagement.
